

Health Equity Seminar: a Refugee Week 2021 celebration

Reducing inequities in health outcomes and providing access to care for newly arrived refugees

This event showcases stories of courage and determination by refugees or those who have been forced to flee their home countries because of persecution, war or violence.

This seminar is part of the Health Equity series that seeks to build a culturally competent workforce with greater skills in working with people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds. This seminar celebrates Refugee Week.

The seminar will focus on:

- health and related issues faced in resettling in WA
- ways to improve health care and outcomes for newly arrived refugees
- examples of health encounters that show good practice.

Dr Hessom Razavi from the Lions Eye Institute will present the keynote address.

Panelists include:

- Dr Hussein Farrah, Anita Clayton Centre
- Assadulah Khurrami, Australian Red Cross
- Rubi NiChin, medical student, Notre Dame University

Date: Wednesday, 23 June 2021
Time: 12:00 noon to 1:00pm
Venue: Harry Perkins Institute for Medical Research, 6 Verdun St, Nedlands

RSVP: Monday, 21 June 2021

Book your place here

For more information, contact the Cultural Diversity Unit on 9222 4377 or on 9222 4373.

This seminar is presented by the Cultural Diversity Unit, DOH in collaboration with the Humanitarian Entrant Health Service, NMHS